WASHINGTON, 3; BOSTON, 2. It was a long time coming, but whe it did arrive it felt a good deal bette than had it happened earlier.

Those gingerly Nationals who have got ten into the habit of meting out punish ment to leader and loser without regar for class, condition, or position, had quit a tussle with the Red Sox yesterday, for instead of going out and winning at th start they had to fight all the way. front, in order to stop the Nationals, Fred Lake, Boston's latest leader, trotted out Elmer Steele, the pitching recrult from the New England League marked him as one of the best youngsters of the season. Steele did not seem to be properly tempered, for his record of twenty-five consecutive limings without being scored upon did not frighten the Nationals, and they arranged eight of their nine hits in the three innings that the scores were made. However, tiken on the whole, Steele pitched good ball, on the whole, Steele pitched good ball.

TIGERS IN FIST FIGHT.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 2 .- Some explanation of the Tigers' slump may be found in the result of a fight between Shortstop Charlie O'Leary and Pitcher Summers. The two players er anged in a littie bout during practice, but Summers, becoming angered at the little infielder, picked up a baseball and heaved it at his tormentor's head.

O'Leary ducked, but struck Summers in the jaw with his fist. The blow landed squarely and resulted in a severe injury to both, O'Leary spraining his hand and Summers sastaining a badly bruised face.

Neither player will be able to play for some time. It is possible that the club management will fine both players.

BILL BURNS OUT FOR REMAINDER OF SEASON.

Ioe Cantillon said last night that he does not expect Bill Burns to pitch another game this year for the Nationals.

Burns did such brilliant work during the first half of the campaign that he was being depended upon to do a large share of the pitching during the closing weeks of the season, but he has been in poor health of late. Several days ago he put on a suit and practiced with his team mates, but since that time has been watching the games from the stand. Unless there is a decided improvement in his health within the next week, Burns intends to return to his home in Texas, where he expects to round into perfect shape and be ready for hard work when he reports at Galveston in the spring.

When the Nationals leave for New York to-night five members of the club will be left at home. In addition to Burns, two other pitchers-Cates and Smith-will not take the trip. Cates has a bruised side, which has been giving him considerable trouble, while Smith will remain here to have his arm further treated. Milan's ankle is still too weak for him to go into the game, and Shipke's fractured finger is still in splints, and he cannot play for at least two weeks.
